

2017 Slalom finals format unveiled:

- a. Finals apply to Eastern Region skiers only.
- b. For the Guys, we will pull in the top 4 skiers into a 2nd round for their division – this will determine the regional placement for their division. Finals will happen for any Guy division that has 5 or more skiers registered. The finals will occur at the end of the same day as their round 1 (see the event order). A seeded 2nd round format will be used for each of the division finals, EXCEPT M1 & M2. For M1 & M2, we are targeting a head to head format for their division finals.
- c. For the Gals, we will pull the top 8 (using NOPS) out of the collective girls & women skiers. They will ski in an elimination bracket challenge called the Ladies Cup. The Ladies Cup will happen at the end of the day on Friday. The 8 skiers will go through 3 brackets to render a winner. This means that some of the girls on Thursday could potentially ski in the Ladies Cup on Friday.
